When answering a question: start by rewriting (or retyping) the question before providing your answer. This required step makes your work self-documenting so that you do not have to search for the assignment when looking at the marked up assignment.

Please do not print the assignment and scribble your answers in the spaces: there is not enough room. Instead copy the question and use the space you need to write a legible answer.

1. Read Edwards's How to Read a Book (http://cs.potsdam.edu/Classes/300/notes/readings/Edwards-Paul-N_How-to-Read-a-Book.pdf).

Examining the eleven (11) reading strategies and techniques, highlight the three (3) you believe are most important to reading non-fiction for comprehension and retention.

Write (and turn in) a paragraph summarizing your choice of three strategies in increasing order of importance. Use your own words and justify why you believe each strategy is important.

Submit your answers electronically, in a commonly readable format (e.g. .pdf, .txt, .docx), through BrightSpace. If you photograph hand-written answers please make sure there is enough contrast that I can read them and please put all the pages in a single file (Adobe Scan is available on both Android and iOS).
